

Mike wants to tell a story
but where do you find one?

Why in your imagination of course!

So .... armed with his collection of suitcases, odds and sods and a head full of ideas, Mike is off to discover what makes a good story.

He has some puppets. That makes for a good start and soon all manner of objects are joining in the Story.

Clowning? Mike is good at that, particularly when it's combined with just the right sized, delicious dollop of silliness.

..... and just like that Mike's adventures begin.

I've Got a Story To Tell is a wonderfully visual performance that explores kid relatable themes and is full of positive messages all bundled into a laugh out loud story aimed perfectly at its preschool audience.

AMAZING! The kinder children found this mischievous content easy to understand. They found Michael very funny and they loved the show! The children were able to tell Michael what colours were when mixed.
