

Mike wants to tell a story
but where do you find one?

Why in your imagination of course!

So armed with his collection of suitcases, various odds and sods, a head full of ideas and some help from the audience, Mike is off to discover what makes a good story.

He has some puppets. That makes for a good start and soon all manner of objects are joining in the story.

Clowning? Mike is good at that, particularly when it's combined with just the right sized, delicious dollop of silliness - and just like that Mike's adventures begin.

I Have a Story To Tell is a wonderfully imaginative performance that explores relevant themes and is full of positive messages all bundled into a laugh out loud story aimed perfectly at its young audience.

Michael Bevitt, the creator of 'I Have a Story To Tell' is a performer, puppeteer and producer specializing in children's theatre. He is also co-founder of Purple Capsicum Puppets where he has created work for adults, infants/primary aged students and kindies.

His past shows for school aged children include 'A Fish Story', 'The Bremen Town Musicians' and 'The Little Bad Wolf'.

Over the past fifteen years Mike has performed across Australia as well as toured overseas to puppet festivals across Europe and the Pacific.

What pre-schools have said about Mike's previous performances:

Kept the students very well engaged. Very happy crowd. A+.

Courtney Nolan. K-2. Trinity Grammar School / Preparatory School. Strathfield. NSW.

The students were highly engaged right from the start of the show. The content was levelled appropriately, students laughed at the right times and participated as necessary. Very friendly, highly energetic and extremely entertaining. Judy Strazzeri. K/Preps to Year 2. Lalor North Primary School. Lalor. VIC.

Highly engaging show enjoyed by both students and teachers. The show helped to develop students' social emotional learning skills - resilience, team work. Loved how he involved the students and spoke to them afterwards. Entertaining. Funny. Thi Truong. K to Year 6. Chullora Public School. Greenacre. NSW.
